Sid Pew now faces criminal charges

Ousted Andover selectman files charges of trespass and obstruction

By ALISON ALOISIO

An Andover political squabble has escalated into a criminal complaint against resident Sid Pew.

Pew is scheduled for an April 2 arraignment in Rumford District Court on charges of criminal trespass and obstructing government administration.

The criminal complaint cites allegations by Pew which took place at a selectmen's workshop at the town office on Feb. 2.

In the words of the criminal complaint, Pew "did, knowingly, that he was not licensed or authorized to do so, enter the file room of the Andover Town Office, and, being at a lawful order not to do so, he was personally communicating with Joseph Madigan, an Andover selectman, authorized to do so."

The complaint also states that Pew "did, knowingly, violate"

Gaudet said that when Pew came out of the Town Office file room, she told him he was 'not supposed to be there.' And Pew replied, 'Get a life.'

intimidation or engage in any criminal act with the intent to interfere with a public servant, namely, Selectman Geraldine Gaudet and other officers of the Town of Andover, performing or purporting to perform an official function, namely Andover town business."

Pew had attended a series of selectmen's meetings over a two-month period, and persistently questioned selectmen on the handling of the town's transfer station finances.

Several of the meetings were abruptly adjourned when Pew started to ask his questions.

Pew also obtained copies of town letters and records regarding the closing of the town's landfill, as well as records of transfer station equipment purchases.

Gaudet, who was overwhelmingly defeated last week in her bid for reelection, filed the complaint following the Feb. 2 workshop incident.

She said Saturday that during the workshop Pew, after sitting in the town office entryway for a time, "just got up and went in on his own" to the file room.

She said Madigan had warned Pew at a regular selectmen's meeting that he had no right to go into the room.

Madigan has cited a Maine Municipal Association manual which states in part, "Under no circumstances should public records be entrusted to non-officials" as grounds for barring Pew. He maintains citizens should make requests for copies of records, rather than be allowed to "have their hands on the documents."

Gaudet said that when Pew went

Will secret ballot determine if Joe Madigan stays?

By ALISON ALOISIO

A petition calling for Andover selectman Joe Madigan to be removed from office has been submitted to the town by resident Kelly Scotti.

Scotti turned the 76-signature petition over to the town clerk Friday, she said. Providing the signatures are valid, the procedure calls for secret ballots to be printed for a recall election -- unless Madigan resigns within 10 days of receipt of the petition by selectmen.

Scotti said the petition reads that Madigan should be voted out of office "due to lack of confidence in his ability to serve the best interests of the town of Andover."

She said there are "a lot of unanswered questions" regarding Madigan's actions during his past year as selectman.

She said, for example, he refused to answer questions about transfer-station related bids.

"He said at the Town Meeting he would have done it the same if he had it to do over again. People were not happy. If he's not willing to look at the policies and procedures he has followed and consider changing them, we need to get someone else in there," she said.

Regarding the transfer station issue, Madigan said Monday it has been documented in town records, and the discussion at the Town Meeting had not allowed him to give an explanation.

His comments on the recall petition can be found in a Letter to the Editor.

Selectmen were expected to act on the petition at their regular meeting last night.

High-stakes bingo plans resurrected

By ALISON ALOISIO

The idea of a high-stakes bingo game in Bethel has been resurrected after a long hiatus.

The plan was first proposed in the late 1980s, but it was shelved for several years.

Now, with a new group of supporters, the plan is back on the table.

The group is currently working on the necessary permits and licenses.

They hope to have the game up and running by next summer.

The game will be held at a local community center.

It is expected to be a popular event for the town.

The group is also planning to have a fundraising event.

The event will be held in the town hall.

IT MAY LOOK LIKE THE GRIM REAPER'S SCYTHE, but it's really the arch over the entrance to Andover's Woodlawn Cemetery. Here, Richard Duka (on ladder) and Pat Gallant of Hanover Iron Works put it back in its place. Built in 1902, the arch and cast iron supports were bent last fall when a vault truck backed into them. The arch itself is made of steel, with cast iron letters.

Safer Families tosses in the towel

Some say local abuse-prevention effort fell victim to turf wars

By ALISON ALOISIO

Safer Families ended its domestic violence services in Oxford County last week -- leaving its volunteers wondering if the void can be filled by what some say is a competing organization.

Safer Families has offered court advocacy services, support groups, and help finding safe shelter since 1991. It was funded originally by a state grant, and later by a Betterment Fund grant and other donations.

But that money has run out, and efforts by the Board of Directors to find other sources have been unsuccessful.

Some of the program's problems stem from competition with others offering similar services, according to several people involved in Safer Families.

Maine is split into nine service regions, each served by its own organization. The Oxford, Franklin, and Androscoggin counties region is served by the Abused Women's Advocacy Project, which has offices in Rumford and Norway.

The nine regional organizations are members of the Maine Coalition for Family Crisis Services.

Safer Families attempted to join the Coalition late last summer, because the alliance might have helped in the quest for funding. The efforts were unsuccessful, however.

"They do not want to cut the pie up into other pieces. It's hard to break into the divisions -- hard to become part of the elite group," Safer Families board member Wendy Penley said.

Penley's frustration was echoed by Safer Families director Lynn Mason-Courtney.

Clerk election voted down

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel's town clerk will continue to be appointed, not elected.

At a special Town Meeting Thursday voters overwhelmingly defeated a motion calling for the town clerk's position to be filled by election rather than appointment.

The vote -- by secret ballot -- was 126-5.

The result came as no surprise. The fate of the elected-clerk proposal was effectively sealed a week earlier, when former town clerk Merton Brown -- who had drafted the petition calling for the change -- urged voters not to approve it.

Brown, who was fired by Town Manager Madeleine Henley in late January, said that at the time he drafted the petition he hoped to be able to return to his former position by way of election. But subsequent events, he said, led he and his family to conclude that a return to the Town Office would be neither possible nor desirable.

SAD44 raises approved

BETHEL--SAD44 central office employees will receive a 3 percent salary hike and an average 7.37 percent insurance benefit increase, following a vote by the School Board Monday. The employees include building and grounds supervisor Burnie Rice, transportation supervisor Sonny Blake, food services supervisor Flossie Kendzierski, computer operator Cindy Moxcey, administrative assistant Robin Gundersen, business manager Bruce Powell, and part-time secretary Wendy Hanscom. The board also approved a retirement cash bonus equal to unused accumulated sick leave as of retirement date for Blake, Rice, and Kendzierski. Powell said the bonuses would be the only retirement funds they would receive, other than social security. Voting in opposition to the compensation agreement were directors Merton Brown and Wende Gray of Bethel, Margaret Hand of Woodstock, Ray Harrington of Greenwood, and Kelly Scotti of Andover.

Mills and Mills win in Andover

ANDOVER--Brian Mills was elected last week to a selectman's seat formerly held by Geri Gaudet. The vote breakdown among the three candidates: Mills, 124; Laura Hutchins, 67; Gaudet, 28. Rick Mills, running unopposed, was elected to a three-year term on the SAD44 School Board, replacing Brad Thibodeau.

Jordan Bowl project OK'd

NEWRY--The Newry Planning Board last week approved a site plan and subdivision application for Sunday River Ski Resort's Jordan Bowl Hotel. Approval for the 300-unit hotel was conditional on the ski resort's agreement to widen the Monkey Brook Road and a portion of the Sunday River Road as part of the project. The project also includes plans for parking 950 cars.

Planners needed

NEWRY--Selectmen are looking for volunteers to fill four vacancies on the town's Planning Board. Appointments will be made shortly for three one-year terms and one three-year term. Anyone interested in serving should call Sylvia Gray at the town office by Monday.

Organic farmers favor cutting ban

AUGUSTA--The Maine Organic Farmers and Gardeners Association Board of Directors has endorsed the referendum proposal to ban clear-cutting. "The board believes that the long-term health of Maine's forests is critical to our future," said Russell Libby, MOFGA Executive Director. "Forest management practices that maintain soil health and fertility, promote diversity, and allow harvesting over long periods of time are consistent with the practices the organic farmers use. MOFGA supports the 'Ban Clear Cutting' referendum as a way to ensure a healthy forest for Maine into the future."

...but King opposes it

RUMFORD--Gov. Angus King visited Boise Cascade paper mill Saturday and called the Green Party and RESTORE group's attempts to control Maine's north woods "the re-colonization of Maine woods from Boston." "RESTORE and the Green Party are part of the campaign to shut down the Maine woods," King said. "It's the re-colonization of Maine from Boston, and I'm getting a little sick of it, quite frankly." But King also said he felt the time had come to limit the use of clearcutting. Limiting clearcutting is not the only issue in the Green Party's referendum though, he cautioned. "The problem with the Green Party referendum is that it goes a lot further than clearcutting and severely restricts the ability of landowners to harvest their own land," King said. "What I'm trying to do is find a solution that won't devastate the timber industry."

School directors star

SOUTH PARIS--Following a recent local cable broadcast of a SAD17 School Board meeting, some area residents approached board members requesting that televised meetings become a regular practice. Supt. Mark Eastman agreed to pursue the possibility of regular broadcasts with the local cable station.

Gambling on a big turnout

RAYMOND--Raymond selectmen hope a $100 door prize will boost the turnout for this year's March 16 annual Town Meeting, according to a report in the Portland Press Herald. Each of the five selectmen will donate $20 toward the door prize. Voters must be at the meeting to collect. The drawing will be made after the last vote is taken, reducing the temptation for people to leave early. Offering a prize for voting is new to Secretary of State Bill Diamond. "I'm sure it would entice people to vote, but there would be a potential for it getting out of hand," Diamond said. "If you start giving prizes for people to vote, you may end up seeing people getting paid to vote in a certain way."

Magnet school to hold open house

LIMESTONE--The Maine School of Science and Mathematics will hold an open house on March 15 and 16 at the MSSM complex in Limestone. The open house will provide interested students, parents, and friends of the MSSM with an opportunity to visit the area where the school is located, tour the complex, meet with faculty and students of the pioneer class, and attend an educational program. For further information on the school or to register for the open house, call 1-800-325-4484.

Check those cookies

SOUTH PORTLAND--Some Girl Scout cookie customers may discover that the Samoas they bought this year are hard. The baker received some shipments of overwrap (the plastic inner seal) that did not provide an adequate moisture barrier for the Samoa cookie. This has resulted, when the humidity outside the package is lower than on the inside of the package, in the cookies becoming dry and the caramel setting up. The cookies are fresh, however, and safe to eat. It has been discovered that putting the Samoa in the microwave for 5-10 seconds softens them to an acceptable level. People who are unsatisfied with any cookies should contact the Girl Scout office at 772-1177 or 1-800-660-1072.

Track upgrade delayed

PORTLAND--Portland to Boston train service was expected to resume this fall, but work to upgrade the track for passenger trains has been delayed by contract negotiations, according to a report in the Portland Press Herald. A recently completed study suggests the rail authority only has enough money to upgrade the tracks for 60-mph service. Originally, the train supporters expected the trains to travel between 70 mph and 80 mph. Running at the slower speeds could add 12 minutes to the two-hour trip. The Portland City Council set aside $450,000 Monday to help build a train station, but questioned whether the passenger service has any future in Maine. The council will vote to spend the money only after it is sure the service is returning.

Montpelier doesn't want McDonald's

MONTPELIER, V.T.--Montpelier is the only state capital that doesn't have a McDonald's. But now William DiFrancesco, a McDonald's shareholder, and four other officials want to put a small "express" McDonald's into a nineteenth-century downtown building. Some citizens oppose the fast-food outlet because of the traffic it might bring to the city's already congested streets. "It's obviously illegal to say you don't want a specific business like McDonald's," said Steven Gorlick. "But if it could be shown that a McDonald's would harm the local economy because the city would be less attractive to the tourists, it could be rejected on those grounds."

From the Bethel Police log:

Racial incident at Sud's

On March 7 at 1:30 a.m. a Clark Street resident reported a large disturbance outside Sud's Pub on Clark Street. On arrival at the scene, the officer observed what appeared to be the end of a fight. He saw one subject attempting to leave. The subject was told several times to stop, and had to be physically restrained by the officer from fleeing. As the officer held the subject against the cruiser, a second subject approached, saying that the first had struck him with a bottle inside the Sud's. The officer obtained I.D. cards from the first subject and two others in his group. They said there was no real problem, that the disagreement had been "racial". (Both subjects are American Indians.) The officer spoke with the second subject and several employees of the Pub. All said the two subjects had been involved in a "pushing match" over what the second subject referred to as a "difference in heritage." This was quickly broken up. Then the first subject, without provocation, struck the second subject over the head with a beer bottle. The first subject then fled. The Pub manager went outside to make sure all parties had left. The second subject followed the manager upstairs, where he was again accosted by the subject. A fight ensued. The majority of the interviews supported the second subject's claim that he was attacked by the first subject.

Friday, March 8

At 6:08 p.m. a Tyler street resident reported receiving approximately 10 calls during the day from her present husband's ex-wife. The complainant said she would try to obtain the ex-wife's address and phone number. The officer advised the complainant to call back if the calls continued. She said the subject has an active warrant in Maine for her arrest for failure to appear, so any threat of court action would have little effect.

At 6:26 p.m. a West Bethel resident reported finding a B.B. hole in the side window of the porch. From the trajectory of the hole, it was apparent that the shot was from the neighbor's house. The complainant said she has had problems with one of the members of the household in the past. There were no footprints in the fresh snow showing where a subject might have walked between the houses. It appeared the shot may have come from a bedroom window.

At 11:26 p.m. a Flat Road resident reported a subject was refusing to leave the residence and had made threats. When police arrived the complainant said the subject had gone to the downstairs apartment. The complainant said he did not want to press charges, but wanted the subject told not to return. The subject was visibly intoxicated and was advised that if he returned upstairs he would be charged with criminal trespassing and possibly arrested.

Saturday, March 9

At 4:45 p.m. a West Bethel resident reported another incident of a B.B. or pellet being fired through her window. When the officer arrived she showed him a second hole in the same window. She said she had been in the kitchen when she heard the glass break. She looked out in time to see an upstairs window at the neighbor's residence opened, but could not see anyone. Police spoke with two occupants of the neighbor's house who admitted they had been at the residence most of the day, but denied they had any knowledge of either incident. The officer told the complainant that without more evidence he could take no further action, but police might conduct surveillance of the residence.

Sunday, March 10

At 12:05 p.m. Two subjects were arrested on Route 2. Steven Taylor, 20, of Bethel, was arrested after attempting to elude police. He was charged with driving while revoked (habitual offender status), driving to endanger, assault, criminal speeding, and failure to stop for a police officer. Robert Taylor, 56, also of Bethel, was arrested for obstructing government administration and assault.

Is It Time To Start Unwinding Your Retirement Plan?

Almost everyone knows that April 15 is an important tax date. But did you know that another tax deadline falls in April?

April 1 is the deadline for taking the first mandatory minimum distribution from your IRA, Keogh, or other qualified retirement plan. If you turned 70½ years old during the preceding year - in other words, if you were born on or between January 1 and June 30, 1925 - you must take your 1995 minimum distribution by April 1, 1996. You're also required to take your 1996 distribution no later than December 31, 1996, and you must continue to take at least the minimum distribution each year for the rest of your life.

A minimum distribution is taxable, except to the extent that it can be traced to an after-tax retirement contribution, such as a nondeductible IRA. Therefore, it may be a good idea to take as little as permitted under the tax law from your retirement plans and leave the rest to enjoy tax-deferred growth. Here's a planning tip: by taking your first distribution in the year you turn 70½, rather than waiting until April 1 of the following year, you may be able to pay less tax.

Calculating the exact amount of a distribution can be tricky, but generally you must divide the balance in your retirement account by your life expectancy, or the joint life expectancies of you and your plan beneficiary. You may take more than the minimum amount in any year. But if you take less than the minimum, you'll face a penalty equal to 50% of the shortfall.

If you turned 70½ during 1995, or if that age is fast approaching, your accountant can help design the best distribution strategy for your retirement plans. Contact our office if you'd like details or assistance.

Pew charged

into the file room, selectman Dick Plantier accompanied him.

When Pew came out of the room, Gaudet said she told him he was "not supposed to be there."

Pew replied, "Get a life," according to Gaudet.

About five minutes later he returned to the room with Plantier a second time, she said. Plantier did not object to Pew being in the room, according to Gaudet.

She then called police, as well as selectman Joe Madigan, who had gone home.

Gaudet said she did not warn Pew she was calling law enforcement, and did not know if he was aware of the calls. Pew left the office a while after she made the calls, she said.

Gaudet and Madigan both said Pew has been allowed in the file room a number of times in the past by other office personnel.

Asked if he intended to talk with the other selectmen about setting up a consistent procedure, Madigan said it should have been understood that non-officials had no right to be in the file room.

Madigan said the town's attorney was not consulted before Gaudet filed her complaint.

Pew declined to comment on the charges of his attorney, Jim Martucci.

Although Martucci did not want to discuss the details of the charges, he said, "We take large exception with statements the two selectmen have made to the D.A.'s office. He [Pew] had express permission to be there from a third selectman."

Martucci said he had not yet read the full police report and was not sure of the origin of the obstructed complaint.

But he said of both complaints, "I think it will be shown the charges were unwarranted."

Selectman Dick Plantier also declined to comment on the charges, but he interpreted the MMA guidelines as meaning files can be examined by the public as long as it does not interfere with town business.

A statement in which a name might not be granted access would be in the office was very brief, he said.

When selectman Dick Plantier said he was not sure of the origin of the obstructed complaint, he said the files are located.

The person who said he was a selectman said he was in the room at the time.

GREENWOOD HISTORICAL

The Greenwood Historical Society met for the regular meeting on Wednesday, March 6 with 19 members present, and President Joan Kimball presiding.

It was reported that member Louise Twitchell of East Bethel is a surgical patient at the MMC.

Another member, Therese Martin of Bethel, passed away recently.

Among the things discussed at the meeting were old cemeteries. The society recently had an inquiry about one at the Old Town Farm at Greenwood Falls. There are no records of any burials there, and the society would be pleased to hear from anyone who has information about it.

At the March 6, 1995 had been reported for the Independence Fund.

There will be another meeting next month in the future.

Joan Kimball completed the winter of the Old Hill photographs. The photos are in the office and are for sale. The photos are in the office and are for sale.

MEDIA SCHOLARSHIPS

Maine Media Women, a statewide organization of communications specialists, has announced that applications for the 1996 MMW and Lee Agger Scholarships are now being accepted.

Maine women of all ages, pursuing or advancing a career in any form of communications are eligible to apply. Either of the $500 scholarships may be applied to undergraduate or graduate study in journalism, public relations or advertising and may be used at the college of the applicant's choice.

The scholarship committee will process applications for the Lee Agger scholarship given each year by a fund established in the late writer's honor.

Applicants should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope and be received prior to March 1, 1996. Send to: 9 Middle St., Hallowell, Maine, telephone Katy Perry at 207-626-3242.

Both scholarships will be awarded during Maine Media Women's annual meeting in May. Date to be announced.

From the

Bethel Bicentennial Committee

By JIM ROSE

This month's raffle is for the six proprietors within the renovated Philbrook Place. Each business will offer a $100 gift certificate, for a total value of $600. The raffle will conclude on March 31 with proceeds going to the bicentennial celebration.

The deadline for the snowman contest has been extended to March 18, due to favorable weather conditions. Entries may be brought to the Moses Mason House or to the office at Crescent Park School, care of Marilyn Swan. Please include a photo of your snowman with your name on the back. All entries will be on display in the town office, and bicentennial memorabilia will be awarded to the top entry in both the individual and business categories.

The Education Exhibit remains on display in the Mason Meeting Room while the Transportation and Mail Exhibit continues at Bethel Station.

The 20th Maine Infantry has confirmed that they will attend the Civil War Heritage Weekend, as will a gentleman who portrays a Civil War surgeon and has an impressive display of period medical text, tools, and medicines.

Joining the re-enactors on June 15 will be the Children's Bicycle Parade. As this date draws nearer, more information of the combined parade will be available in this column.

If you haven't seen the Bicentennial Commemorative Coins yet, they may be viewed at Key Bank, Bethel Savings Bank, and Preb's. The town logo and the Cole Block are presented in a very handsome antique bronze and each coin is mounted in its own case. The purchase price is $10. Bicentennial T-shirts, sweatshirts, and calendars are currently on sale at Preb's, Ruthie's, The Village Sampler, and the Moses Mason House.

The next meeting of the bicentennial committee will be this Sunday, March 17 at 7 p.m. in the home of Stanley Howe. All are invited to attend.

FROM THE

White Mountain National Forest

In honor of Employ the Older Worker Week, March 10 through 16, the Bethel office of the Androscoggin/Evans Notch Ranger District wants to boast about some of the "older" workers we employ. Our older workers bring valuable past work experience to the White Mountain National Forest.

Charlie Geer, Phyllis Estabrook, Stan Smith and Madeleine Littlehale are enrollees in the Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP). SCSEP is a program to train people 55 years and older in new skills. The Androscoggin/Evans Notch SCSEP enrollees help us maintain the district office and recreation facilities. They keep the district office grounds neatly maintained, with snow removal and many other tasks as assigned.

The knowledge and skill that Charlie, Phyllis, Stan and Madeleine have, and the skills they have learned on the job are a much appreciated help in getting the yearly program of work completed. Mary Morin is also a SCSEP enrollee, who helps us with visitor information services. She is a valuable source of local information to visitors calling and visiting the district office in Bethel. She has learned skills on the job such as telephone skills, use of computer system, answering visitor mail and sending information, distributing mail and processing outgoing mail, brochure inventory, selling maps and other interpretive materials and many other business management and visitor information duties. She designs and creates our outdoor information kiosk display.

Frances Cushing, another older worker who has moved from SCSEP to a permanent Forest Service position, also works in Visitor Information in the Bethel office. Her knowledge of the area is helpful when answering visitor questions. Frances has learned many computer skills and has kept track of large computer-generated mailing lists and assisted in mass mailings. She has been payroll clerk, and learned many other clerical skills on the job. We do not think of Charlie, Phyllis, Stan, Madeleine, Mary and Frances as older. They are all part of the Androscoggin/Evans Notch team, and we are proud to be their co-workers.

You change her. She changes your tax return.

Safer Families

"It strikes me personally that we are all in this together. All people working in ways to impact domestic violence should be working together," she said.

She also said Safer Families had tried to establish communications with AWAP, but "we weren't successful at all."

Mason-Courtney said Safer Families has averaged about 15-20 new requests for help a month, and its hotline received about 60 to 80 calls monthly. About 35 trained volunteers have served in the program over its history.

The volunteer ranks have dwindled recently, due to the time commitment and other requirements of the volunteers, Penley said.

"You can't run a program without really qualified volunteers," she said.

On the run

One area woman (who asked not to be identified) went to Safer Families for help three years ago.

"For 20 years I was in a bad marriage," she said. "I stayed in it because I didn't realize I could get out."

After getting into a support group, she said, "I realized I had more control than I thought. Safer Families helped me tremendously."

"I had to leave home on a number of occasions because of threats and violence. They found safe places to stay for me and my children."

"One time I was on the run, hiding from him (her husband), for a week. It was very difficult, but I knew I could turn to Safer Families," she said.

The woman said she gained self-confidence, and has now divorced her husband.

For the past year, she has repaid Safer Families by becoming a volunteer herself.

She said the disbanding of the organization is a "definite loss." She wishes Safer Families and AWAP could have cooperated more.

"My gut feeling is Safer Families shouldn't have had to compete. Everybody should be there to help," she said.

Helped men, too

Safer Families has served some men in cases of physical battering, emotional abuse, and divorce-related situations.

That dimension was part of the appeal for Capt. Jim Miclon of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department.

"It's not an organization that only served women, but also men with children. It's been a real outlet for us," he said.

Miclon, who is also a Safer Families board member, said county law enforcement personnel have had a close relationship with Safer Families and have generally called them first in time of need.

"We were able to call them anytime," he said.

He said an officer calling Safer Families would not have to leave a message and wait for a call back -- an important consideration "when you've got two parties fighting and you're trying to keep them separated," he said.

Miclon said the law enforcement people also have a good relationship with AWAP. He and other officers are now distributing AWAP cards in all domestic violence situations.

"But I don't know what we will do with the men. There's no place to serve them," he said.

Women and Children's Advocate Mitzi Copeland of AWAP said that while her organization has served men in the past, "it's a rare thing."

She said two part-time caseworkers (herself included) serve Oxford County, and AWAP has offered its services since Safer Families came into existence. She said AWAP receives about 10 new requests a month for help in the Bethel area, including hotline calls.

Copeland said that although calls to the Rumford and Norway offices are sometimes taken by answering machine, AWAP "is sufficiently funded to meet the needs of Oxford County."

She said in cases of violence, someone is always available to transport a person to a safe place. AWAP operates its own shelter, and utilizes motels as well.

She said AWAP had sometimes provided coverage for Safer Families, and respected them as an agency.

Regarding Safer Families attempts to join the Maine Coalition, AWAP executive director Christine Fenno said the organization had asked her for a letter of support.

But she told them in her reply that they "were providing a duplication of services."

"They needed to show there was an unmet need and document it, as well as document the services provided, and they were not able to do that," she said.

The documentation would have been part of the formal application, but Safer Families never got that far into the application process, she said.

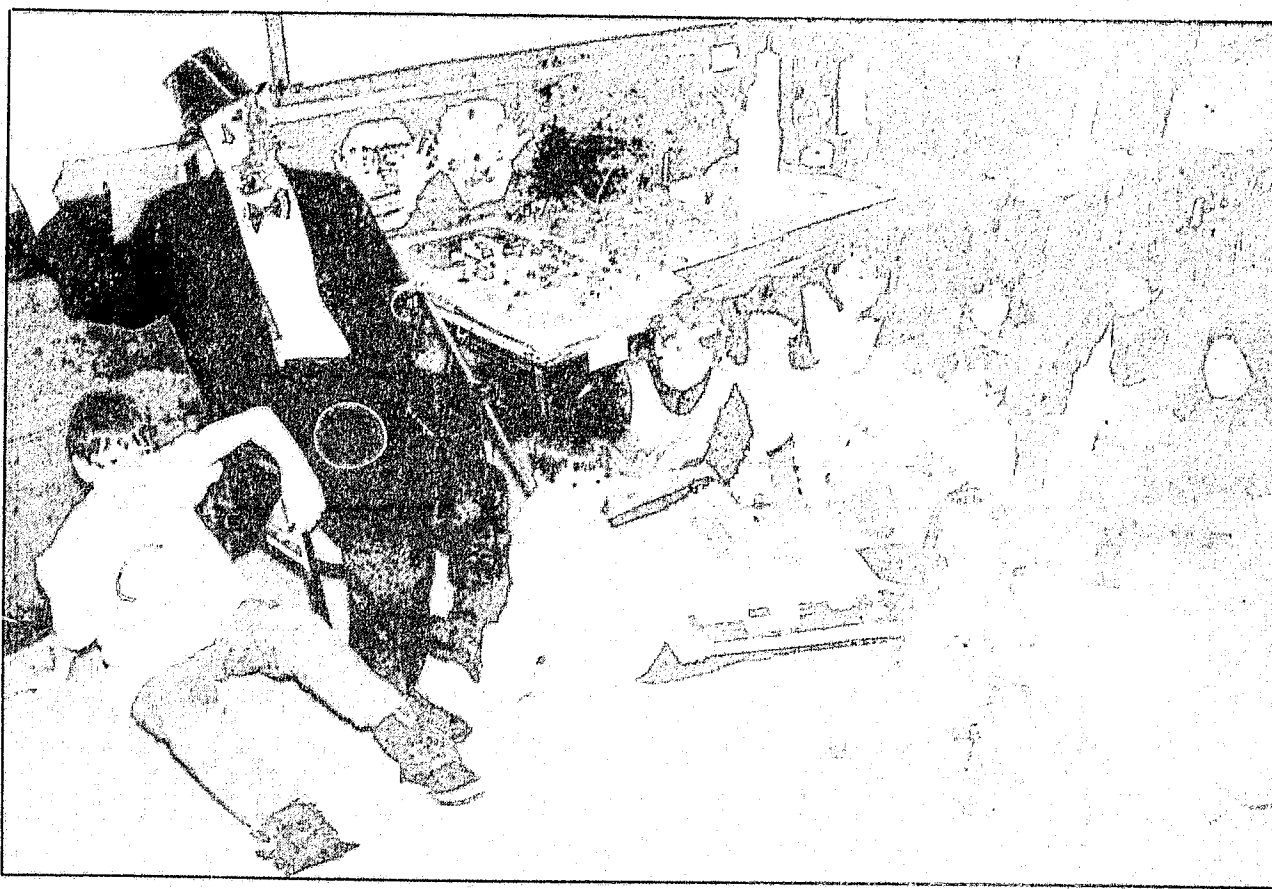

Fenno also said AWAP had made "a good faith effort" to bring in coalition representatives to work with both the Safer Families and AWAP boards, but it had not been successful.

AWAP encourages anyone -- whether previously helped by Safer Families or not -- to call their office (369-0750 in Rumford; 743-5806 in Norway) or its hotline (1-800-520-4220). A national hotline (1-800-799-SAFE) is also available.

Mason-Courtney also urges people to call AWAP, as well as REACH (a sexual abuse agency) or the Oxford County Crisis Response Team in Rumford.

She also said Safer Families board members will continue to work on their own with law enforcement and other agencies to see that victims get services.

She thanked everyone throughout the county who had helped Safer Families. "The support has been wonderful," she said. "I've never run into anyone who doubted the need for an organization like Safer Families. That's why we started -- and why we hung on for so long."

Former West Paris town clerk reelected

By DUANE HAYES

It took two ballots at the annual town meeting Saturday, to elect former town clerk Dian Stimson as town clerk, tax collector, treasurer, bookkeeper, and registrar of voters for the ensuing year.

Stimson, who served as town clerk from March 1988 to November 1994, ran against incumbent Paula Perham, who originally replaced her, and the first ballot ended in a tie vote.

The tie came despite the fact that a record-breaking 250 residents attended the meeting.

After the second ballot the final election result showed Stimson winning by one vote. The final tally was Stimson 92 votes, and Perham 91 votes.

Following that tie, a second article also ended in a dead heat -- a proposal to change the term of office from three years to one year. After a second ballot on that issue the article was defeated by a vote of 81 no to 79 yes.

Two years ago the people cast their ballots calling for the term of office to become three years from the long-time traditional one year, so Saturday's vote was a reaffirmation of the 1994 vote.

In other elections two incumbents were elected while running unopposed, and the SAD17 school board seat was not filled.

Veteran selectman Howard Gurney was elected to a third consecutive three-year term as selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor, and Richard Braden, chairman of the board of trustees of the West Paris Water District, was also reelected for another three years.

The post of school director, however, drew no nominations in the effort to find a replacement for Raymond Brown who announced in January that he would not be running again. As a result the position automatically becomes an appointive position by the selectmen.

Following the elections, the town's residents proceeded to give their support to a 1996 municipal budget of $361,252, which is $3,338 less than the $364,590 appropriation from 1995. The final amount, however, was higher than the proposals made by both the selectmen and the Budget Committee.

Prior to the meeting the selectmen had recommended $339,500, and the Budget Committee had suggested a figure of $353,991. The voters, however, added $5,000 for the replacement of the furnace at the town garage, $2,000 for the fire department account, and $4,650 to support 10 social and civic service organizations.

All other articles were passed with little discussion, including a vote to accept a revised warrant, lot size ordinance and a revised floodplain management ordinance. A vote of $1,100 from the town of small town-owned plot of land on Kingsbury Street was transferred to the town's building fund, and it was decided not to continue to carry duplicate life insurance policies for the road crew.

Date change brings in crowd

For the first time since West Paris became a chartered town in 1958 the annual town meeting was held during the evening of the first Tuesday in March.

The Saturday morning meeting drew a much larger crowd than the traditional evening time slot.

The change was made because the March 5th Presidential Primary was held on Tuesday, March 5.

Saturday's attendance of between 250 and 300 voters turned out to be close to double the normal attendance average of about 130 residents.

West Paris continues to hold the annual town meeting on Saturday morning, but a new tradition that the possibility that will be reached Saturday before the next election in March of 1997.

ahead with any plans to build in Albany.

The 18-acre parcel of land under consideration was acquired in 1988 and put into tribal trust in 1994. But it was put into trust for purposes of a ski resort and retreat and/or camp for children.

Such a designation would have to be amended before the parcel could be used for gambling, and the amendment would have to be approved by yet another federal bureau, the Office of Indian Gaming Management.

No application has been received for such a change, according to director George Skibine.

The Maine Land Use Regulation Commission must also agree to a zoning change for the parcel. Again, no application has been submitted, according to Cindy Bertocci, head of LURC program review.

Matters are further complicated by the fact that the Portland Natural Gas transmission lines and right of way run through the property. A new 20-inch line is slated to be installed next to the current lines, as part of a $230 million capacity upgrade.

And according to Maine Assistant Attorney General Thomas Warren, who successfully represented the state in the federal appeal, the recent federal court decision probably applies to any Indian gambling operation in Maine.

Even bingo, he said, would probably have to be run under state regulations, rather than the less restrictive federal rules.

Such an interpretation appears to cast doubt on the validation of the Class II NIGC permit, since NIGC was itself established as a result of the federal IGRA.

Water/ground Temps.

The Bethel Water District reports the following water and ground temperatures as of Monday, March 11.

Water	35 degrees
Ground
-3 feet	31 degrees
-4 feet	33 degrees
-5 feet	34 degrees
-6 feet	35 degrees

Ground temperatures are measured by sensors under Philbrook Street, where the surface of the ground is exposed and the subsurface is colder than in most other locations.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

Last week brought us the first day of March and with it, for me, there was sadness, for I lost my fourth and last brother at six o'clock that morning.

Ernest was born on an autumn night, Oct. 6, 1918. I remember so well his arrival. When growing up he was especially interested in gardening and outside work. Like me, he had a country heart. He would find a country trail, a pathway through the trees; amid the berries growing wild and fragrance on the breeze. He would find a grove of birch that nestled next to pines, where sunlight leaves cast the light until the meadows would shine. He would hear the tumbling streams refreshing age-old stones and wander the grass that only nature owned. He would walk in any season's woods, where gentle things survived. He would guide his inner paths of thoughts and sing his heart alive.

Ernest will be remembered for his welcoming manner, friendly ways and searing spirit. His dependability in everything he did will long be remembered. In the love and appreciation of his family he was happiest. He always looked for the best in others and gave of the best he had.

The profusion of flowers and the weeds of the minister, who knew him well, made a testimony of the love and respect of his many friends, at his service on March 3.

Ray, man, father and grandpa. Ernest wasn't rich, as some think of richness, but could not be excelled in Yankee ingenuity. He was calm-eyed, serene, kindly-faced, but he had a gently subtle wit that was a delight to those who knew him well. He was like the land he tilled, Maine, to the core. He was not registered in the Hall of Fame but with friends and people, who knew him. He made life easier and happier by his work and play and the world is a lot better off because he was here. I'll always remember his greeting to me as "Mama-sister" whenever we met or parted.

Although there was time to prepare for this, it is still hard for me to accept.

Dale and Marcia Mills came from North Haven Island to visit me and to attend Ernest's service over the weekend. I also had several other callers.

The Holt family invited me to be with them late Sunday afternoon. That helped me a lot and I appreciated it much.

Several of the Curtis family in town attended the service for Ernest.

Andover

There will be a corned beef and cabbage dinner on Saturday, March 16, at the CEB. The Snow Valley Sno Goers will begin serving the meal at 5 p.m. and will welcome diners until the food is gone.

Congratulations to the newly elected selectman, Brian Mills. Also to Rick Mills who was chosen to represent Andover as a school board member. Word has been passed on to give thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Laura Hutchins who had homebaked goodies available for the town meeting attendees.

Kathy Conrad was guest of honor at a baby shower held on Saturday. The expectant mom received many nice gifts. Hostesses were Judy Conrad, Martha Luttrell and Carol Emery. Kathy and Glenn are expecting their third child this month.

Congratulations to Ben Sabin for qualifying in the state level National Geography Bee. Ben is one of 100 students, statewide, who will be traveling to Colby College on March 29 to compete for the state title and a chance to go to Washington, D.C. for the nationals in May.

Sympathy is extended to the Crowley family for the death of Josh who died in a car accident. Josh, a Topsham resident, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crowley of East Andover.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. Another week has come and gone and I'll try to scrounge up some news.

Barbara Tindler and sons Matthew and Bryan are home after being away to England for 10 days visiting Liz Tindler and husband Simon Boxley. They enjoyed their visit and went to London, Winchester Cathedral, Port Chester Castle in Portsmouth, and Tangmere Air Museum. Liz and Simon live in a lovely 15th-century cottage. They had some nice weather but did not see freezing fog and some snow.

Stoneham Town Meeting was held at the meeting room at the Fire Station on Saturday with about 35 people attending. Not many changes were made. The selectmen worked many hours making graphs and reports on how the town's money is spent and what is needed. Selectman Jim Tindler explained it all out in good detail to the residents attending.

Sen. Norman Ferguson Jr. and Rep. Al Barth were in attendance and should have been recognized.

The members of the Firemen's Auxiliary served lunch of hot dogs, chili, desserts and beverages at 12:10 p.m. John Woodbury was again the moderator of the town meeting, which took care of 64 articles. Mary Fox was again re-elected as Town Clerk, Tax Collector, Treasurer.

Kate Flynn is with her daughter in Maryland and will go into the hospital there this week for surgery for aortic aneurysm. I believe. We hope things go well. Kate, and that we get a good report.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herrick and Wendy Herrick from Oxford visited Frances Grant on Saturday. Laurence Dabnum of Damariscotta was in town recently checking his house and told us that his wife, Mildred, had been in the hospital there but is home now.

Bryan Tindler, a senior at Fryeburg Academy, has been accepted to Guilford College in Greensboro, N.C.

Once again, on Tuesday, March 5, Phyllis Adams and myself were ballot clerks at the Presidential Primary voting here at the Fire Station meeting room. Mary Fox has made and put up some beautiful curtains for all the wardens there. They sure look nice. It was a small turnout of people (27). I hope more people will get interested in their town, state and national government. I respect those that do get involved.

Again, we were brought in a nice hot pizza for lunch. Thanks, Ralph and Harriett Brown. Also, Albert Nelson Sr. brought us a chocolate sugar-free ice cream and a sample from the crock pot at home. Thanks, Al. It didn't take long to count the ballots and the day went really well.

We were surprised and sorry to learn of the death of our former townsman and friend, Win Bickford of Lewiston. He belonged to our snowmobile club. Our sympathy goes out to his family.

Church services are being held this month (March) at the East Stoneham Congregational Church UCC. See you there.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Patty and Tim Poland have returned home from Florida after enjoying the week touring and attending the Daytona 500. Better weather there.

Tara Monzo was on the honor roll in the fourth grade at Oxford Elementary School.

Joe Pete Appleby and grandson, Joshua Appleby took in the DARE Fishing Derby in Peru this past weekend.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Marjorie Chase, who passed away this past week. Mrs. Chase was well known by everyone in this area.

Sunday night, a birthday party was held for Jessie Hart in South Paris. Those attending were: Kellie Hart, Brad Record, Sarah Hart, Jenny Record, Jim Gillies, Ryan Wing and Emmie, Andrea Wing, Sadie and of course the honored guest, Jessie. Cake and ice cream was served and everyone enjoyed visiting.

Joyce and Ellsworth Hathaway had the pleasure of having their daughter, Jane Niro and children, Michelle and Dana, from Milford, Mass. visit with them for most of a week recently.

I received a call from Louise Andrews Newton one night last week. Louise is in Florida. We enjoyed visiting on the phone and talking about old times. Louise graduated in my class from Woodstock High School.

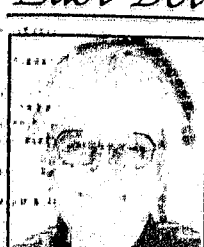

Joyce Hathaway is celebrating a birthday this month. Happy birthday Joyce!

I was saddened by the death of Janna Roseberry this past week. I only knew Janna when she was a small girl. She lived next door to us and was about my children's ages. It is always sad for someone so young to die. Sympathy goes out to her children, husband, family and friends.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that the society enables us all to study local history and its influence on our lives. The historical museum is an important cultural center for our area. The society offers people information and education on all aspects of local and area history.

It seems like we just get rid of the snow a bit and it comes right back. I think most of us will be glad to have spring come as soon as possible. It's been a long winter.

REUTER TAKES X-C FIRST

John Reuter, fifth-grader at Crescent Park School, took first place in the Junior 4 category (ages 10-11) at the Bill Koch Youth Ski League Cross Country Ski Festival held recently in Bretton Woods, N.H. John ousted 26 peers from Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. He outsledd second place finisher by 26 seconds in the 3-kilometer cross-country race. The previous day, he helped bring his relay team to a sixth-place finish out of 46 teams.

John is the son of Jim and Julia Reuter of Glover Hill Road, Bethel. He has been competing in cross-country skiing since the age of 4.

IPPOLITO WINS GS

Janet Ippolito, daughter of James and Joan Ippolito of Rumford, won the giant slalom competition held recently at Sugarloaf USA. Ippolito posted the fastest run of the day to clinch her second victory of the season at Sugarloaf. Ippolito is currently ranked 9th in the United States in her age group in super-G, giant slalom, 19th in downhill and 48th in slalom.

A senior at Carabasset Valley Academy, Ippolito participates in the women's alpine competition program. She received early acceptance to Bates College.

T.H.S. Parents Group

By MARILYN HOWE

This month's high school parents' group meeting was postponed from Thursday, March 7, to Thursday, March 14, due to inclement weather. We meet in the school's library from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. This meeting's agenda will include determining the location of the homecoming dance, planning spring lunch money, and scheduling a second semester academic awards night for our daughters. The group will also help schedule and host the T.H.S. administrator parent discussion meeting in Bethel and Waterville. In addition, it will brainstorm an alternative program to take the place of the previously planned dinner party which was cancelled due to lack of snow.

We are a growing group of active, enthusiastic, and helpful parents dedicated to supporting students and programs at Telstar High School. An excellent introduction to helping with our efforts and to our support group is available for all interested parents. Name for our next meeting: Thursday, March 14, 7:30 p.m. in the school library.

Obituaries

MICHAEL W. DICKERSON

Michael W. Dickerson, 34, of Greenwood, died Saturday, March 2, 1996, at his residence in Greenwood.

He was born at Harrodsburg, Ky., April 21, 1961, the son of John and Mildred Lanham Dickerson. He attended Harrodsburg schools. He had worked as a self-employed carpenter. He married Elizabeth Tonge on Oct. 10, 1987.

He is survived by his wife of Greenwood; two sons, Peter and Matthew, both of Greenwood; five sisters; three brothers; his father of Harrodsburg, Ky.; his mother and step-father, M. Juanita and Randall Cooley of Hopkinville, Ky.; his maternal grandparents, Marylee and Goble Lanham of Lexington, Ky.

Funeral services will be held at a later date.

To submit events for the Community Calendar, you may bring in your copy to The Bethel Citizen or call the office at 824-2444, by noon on Mondays.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

On March 7 the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post and Unit opened their meeting jointly at 6 p.m. for the purpose of hearing a guest, Cathy Newell, director of Adult Education in SAD44, as she gave an interesting overview of that program, followed by a question and answer period. Many of those present had participated in some of the courses. The two organizations then met for their respective meetings.

There will be public supper and dance starting at 5:30 p.m., dancing continuing until 10, on April 9, at which time the grange in Bryant Pond will be a partner in a benefit to assist Nadia Bolio, who has had recent medical bills not covered by insurance.

The American Legion will be 77 years old on March 15 and the local auxiliary will give their post a birthday party on March 21 beginning with a 6 p.m. supper.

Ethel Lacourse of the Norway Unit, auxiliary representative to the Western Maine Veterans Home, will be asked to attend the unit's meeting on that night to let them know some of the ways they can help at the home, including the monthly birthday parties.

The long-awaited podium and microphone which the Unit had promised the Veterans Home, in memory of Noreen Russo, has arrived and will be presented shortly.

The selection process for Girls State delegates in June was begun some time ago at Telstar High School. The names of those in the top half of their junior class are submitted by the high school principal. Jackson-Silver Unit sponsors girls from Woodstock and Greenwood; the Oxford County Council Auxiliary sponsors a girl from Andover, whose fee is paid by the town of Andover; and the Bethel Unit chooses from that town and the remaining girls in the SAD44 area. These names are placed in unmarked envelopes and drawn to determine who the delegates will be. At the meeting on March 7, Liza Fyberg was selected from Andover, with Sarah Richardson as her alternate. Of the Greenwood and Woodstock girls, Kimberly Brown, Bethany Howe and Jennifer York's names were drawn with Stephanie Curley and Sarah Seames as alternates. They will be guests, with their parents, at a tea to be held at the South Paris Post on April 14 at 2 p.m.

Membership applications were received from Mary Doon and Mary Cobb, making them the newest members and putting the unit two above their membership of last year, an all time high.

The next county council meeting will be March 19 at Dixfield. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

Births

Lorrie Rolfe and Chris Hatstat of East Stoneham are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby girl, Baylee Dawn, born on March 7, 1996, at Stephens Memorial Hospital, weighing 7 pounds, 8 ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gibby Rolfe and Mr. and Mrs. Hank Rolfe, both of Albany.

Paternal grandparents are Everett and Nellie Hatstat of Albany.

In Memory of Irene Wilson

A special person and dear friend passed away 3/14/89

The years roll by, but you will never be forgotten. The memories, your kindness, your words of encouragement and the picture of your smiling face will always be with me. I was so fortunate to have known you.

In Loving Memory of Richard S. Kimball Jr.

Passed Away March 15, 1989

You never said "I'm old"
You never said "I'm weak"
You left the world a better place and left the family a better place
In life we loved you deeply
In death we love you still
In our hearts you have a good place that nobody can fill
Our hearts broke when you died
but you didn't go alone
Because one part of our lives went with you
The day God took you home

School Age 7 • 1970-1971

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SKIPPY!

THIS MAN IS OLD AS THE HILLS AND DUMBER THAN DIRT.
HE IS AS DEAF AS A HADDOCK AND BLIND AS A BAT.
THE GUY CAN'T REMEMBER WHAT DAY IT IS BUT HE SURE WILL ARGUE THE POINT.
HE WALKS WITH A LIMP AND DROOLS ON HIS CHIN.
HE DRINKS SCOTCH OK BUT HAS TO BE FED BY NURSES.
HIS WIFE HAS TO DRESS HIM AND HE AIN'T REAL EASY TO LOOK AT.
HE IS THE CHEAPEST OLD CUSS YOU WILL EVER MEET. NEVER BUYS A ROUND.
AND HE SNORES SO LOUD THAT THE ROOF RAPTERS SHAKE.

BUT HE IS OUR PAL AND WE LOVE HIM!

IF YOU SEE THIS OLD FOOL AT SUNDAY RIVER ON SAINT PATS WISH HIM
A HAPPY BIRTHDAY AND GIVE HIM A GOOD POKE IN THE EYE.
